

PART 2 — ENTRUSTED TO SERVE

ICEBREAKER

- Think of something that grew because it was invested in: like a garden, a skill, a business, etc. What did it take?
- Now think of something that sits unused: like a gym membership, a tool, a talent, etc. What keeps it from being put to work?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. What is one thing you consider yourself good at that you have never used to serve others?
2. What makes it hard to say yes to serving like time, confidence, maybe not knowing where or how to start serving?
3. What do you think of when you hear the words “free time”?
4. What would change if you thought of free time as something entrusted to you not just yours?
5. What would it look like to serve a local nonprofit as a group? As a family? As friends? As coworkers? As classmates?
